The Wetland Grant Database (WGD) houses grant data for Wetland Program Development Grants (created by EPA in 1990 under the Clean Water Act Section 104(b)(3) authority), as well as for a three-year demonstration pilot program (the "Pilot Grants"), for which a portion of the national grant appropriation could be used for program implementation. The WGD also houses grant Case Study narratives, and Model Products created by the grant program.

The data entered into the WGD allows EPA to track grant-funded activities, prospective grantees to learn from what past grantees have accomplished, and the public to read about grant-funded activities.

The WGD is administered by EPA's Wetlands Division. Any questions about the WGD may be sent to Romell Nandi of EPA's Wetlands Division at: nandi.romell@epa.gov
